When:

Saturday January 28th – Faculty arrive at 11 a.m.

Student Families sign their students in at security at 11:30 a.m. to warm-up in the Basement Chapel.

Parents may only wait in the Lobby (First or Second floors)

All Stage Dress-Rehearsals must be finished by 12:50 p.m.

Parents may return at 12:50 p.m. to be seated for the 1 p.m. Concert, ending by 2 p.m.

Why:

Student performers will meet the other instruments of our Orchestra, and meet the Let's Play Orchestra that they will be invited to join for our May 27th Annual Festival Concert.

Dress:

We say wear your "Sunday Best" which promotes a variety of expression and personalities. We do not have any color coordination requirements.

Dear Student Families, Partners, and Faculty:

Below is our FAQ for the Tune Up Philly Annual Festival Concert. Updates will be reflected here in real time.

All Performers must complete the TUP Registration Form to perform.

I strongly encourage you to reach out to confirm any questions with me directly at PSmith@PYOMusic.org

Parents may wait in the Lobby Area only and are not permitted in the basement chapel. PYO Music Institute on-site staff and our Tune Up Philly faculty have limited space to prepare, and all students are their assigned faculty to ensure appropriate student monitoring. There are limited seats in the Temple Lobby as well as the Balcony.

- Plan your day. Concerts can be very energy draining, students need to be well-rested and with a solid breakfast before arriving.
- Plan your travel:
 - If there are any city-wide updates due to traffic changes we will list them here. If you're parking, have a few options ready in case there are issues.
 - In the performing arts, there is a lot of "hurry up and wait" - to ensure that everyone is on-time for a performance inside the Temple Performing Arts Center. Please make sure your child is on time with their instrument and supplies.
- Plan ahead to bring your instrument and any music and supplies that students may need to bring. We do not have spare instruments.
- Plan your student's clothing to make sure they're comfortable to perform.
